

Fluid flow control in intelligent wells for management of carbonate fields with pre-salt features

Randerson Lemos

randerson.lemos@gmail.com

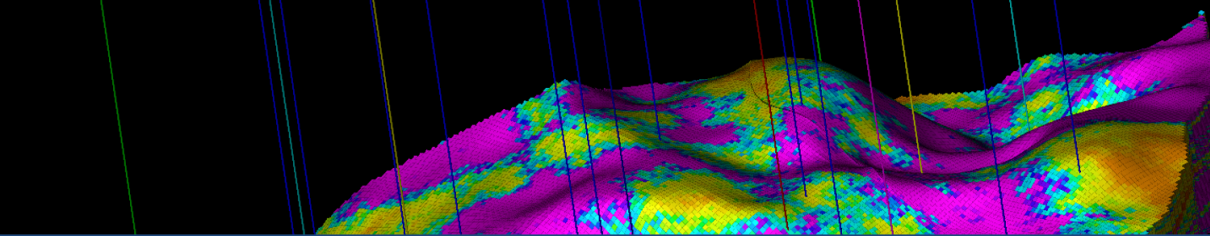

January, 2020

www.unisim.cepetro.unicamp.br

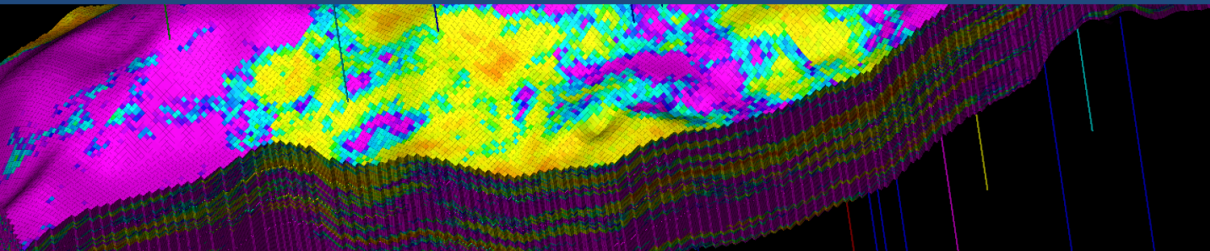

Agenda

- Introduction

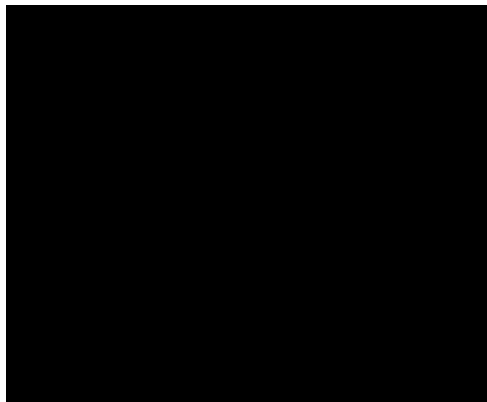

Introduction

O rato roeu a roupa do rei de roma

Success of upstream business are highly influenced by decisions that must be one at the beginning of the exploitation project Success of upstream business are highly influenced by decisions that must be one at the beginning of the exploitation project Success of upstream business are highly influenced by decisions that must be one at the beginning of the exploitation project Success of upstream business are highly influenced by decisions that must be one at the beginning of the exploitation project

Upstream Business

O rato roeu a roupa do rei de roma

Success of upstream business are highly influenced by decisions that must be one at the beginning of the exploitation project Success of upstream business are highly influenced by decisions that must be one at the beginning of the exploitation project Success of upstream business are highly influenced by decisions that must be one at the